Foreword

Memories, plans, and hopes are a large part of a student's world. They influence his actions and determine what his outlook on life will be. They are his reflections of the world.

A student's world, however, is very small, its pivot point being the school-student relationship from which his reflections are built.

We have attempted to portray this relationship in words and pictures, choosing REFLECTIONS as the theme of our 1966 APOGEE.

(Left top and bottom) Construction on the new Bowsher High School took place during 1961-62.

Innovations, Growth Mark Four Year Span

Senior Linda Trumbull explains the meaning of the school crest to freshman Kathy Pierce.

This year Bowsher honors its first four-year graduating class. The seniors will remember the new world they entered as the school's first freshmen. Their confusion gave way to confidence as they steadily grew to maturity. The school, too, has grown, from a pile of brick and mortar to the impressive building which today houses 1600 students daily.

Many innovations have been started during these four years; among these are the school crest, the loyalty song, the "Dunsmore Drum," annual dances, the senior play, and "Rebelees."

Years from now the seniors of 1966 will reflect on the many rewarding experiences, the lasting friendships, and the invaluable knowledge which they gained here as members of this significant class.

Reprinted from an editorial in the Bowsher CREST, September 17, 1965.

'66 Will Be 'Year of Tradition''

For the first time since Bowsher opened in the fall of 1962, the student body has severed all ties with Libbey High School. Ours is the first senior class to have attended Bowsher for the full four years of high school. Because of this we no longer have a "yard stick" with which to compare our school. We no longer say that the food was better, the classes more crowded, or the pep rallies livelier because the majority of us have never eaten in another cafeteria, been in other classes, or cheered at other pep rallies. "Year of Tradition" because this is 1966 might well be called the "Year of Tradition" because this is the first chance we have had to establish our own "Rebel Traditions" without the second-hand ideas from the other school. The student body should realize this opportunity and make the most of it.

Bowsher's first graduating class saw this view of the completed structure as they entered in September, 1965.

Football co-captains Walt Schmalzried (left) and Larry Bennington discuss the tradition of the Bowsher-Start "Dunsmore Drum," named for retired Superintendent of Schools Philo Dunsmore. Miss Harriot Schell, Bowsher counselor, joins them in a discussion of new Rebel traditions.

THE LOYALTY SONG

With loyal hearts, O Bowsher
High,
We sing to you today.
Our praises firm with love and pride,
And lasting friendship here abide.
Within these halls we strive for truth,
We pledge fidelity!
Within these halls we give our minds,
We pledge our loyalty!
With faithful hearts, O Bowsher
High,
We honor you today.
With voices raised in grateful song
We will be ever strong!

Knowledge Is Central Activity for All Rebels

Knowledge is the key to all wisdom, and wisdom houses greatness. The life of the school revolves around academic activities. Various studies are combined to offer a well-rounded curriculum which reflects upon all who attend Bowsher. Different types of classes enable students to understand the world outside and its many problems. We can see knowledge growing from the expressive and creative artworks, from the experience we gain through science, and the ingenuity of the home economics students. Rebels reflect this knowledge in many ways, but mostly in academic achievement. The years spent at Bowsher are valuable, because the skills learned here act as a guide for life.

Martha Dungan and Jerry Bolduan produce oxygen in chemistry lab.

Jerry Bolduan addresses the student body at one of several football mass meetings during the season.

A big breakthrough greets the Rebels.

Bowsher Spirit Reflects Purpose and Vigor

Mary Johnson leads the cheering student body.

Spirit is the key to athletic success. Our enthusiasm is reflected through lively cheerleaders, cheering students, and a vigorous pep band. Sportsmanship is an important factor in the building of spirit, for without it the enthusiasm can not be sincere. Special enthusiasm is shown by active participation in the school-sponsored car caravans to show the team that the students are behind them. Other encouragement comes from decorating the halls with colorful signs and by enthusiastic pep rallies in which all students participate. All these acts combined give Bowsher that all-important special spirit. Such actions are primarily for the athletic teams but ultimately they are for the good of all Rebels. In four years student enthusiasm has grown to the loyalty we now have for all sports and activities. The desire to win comes from the continually renewed vigor that the student body shows so aptly.

The Student Council-sponsored poster campaign attracts many willing workers.

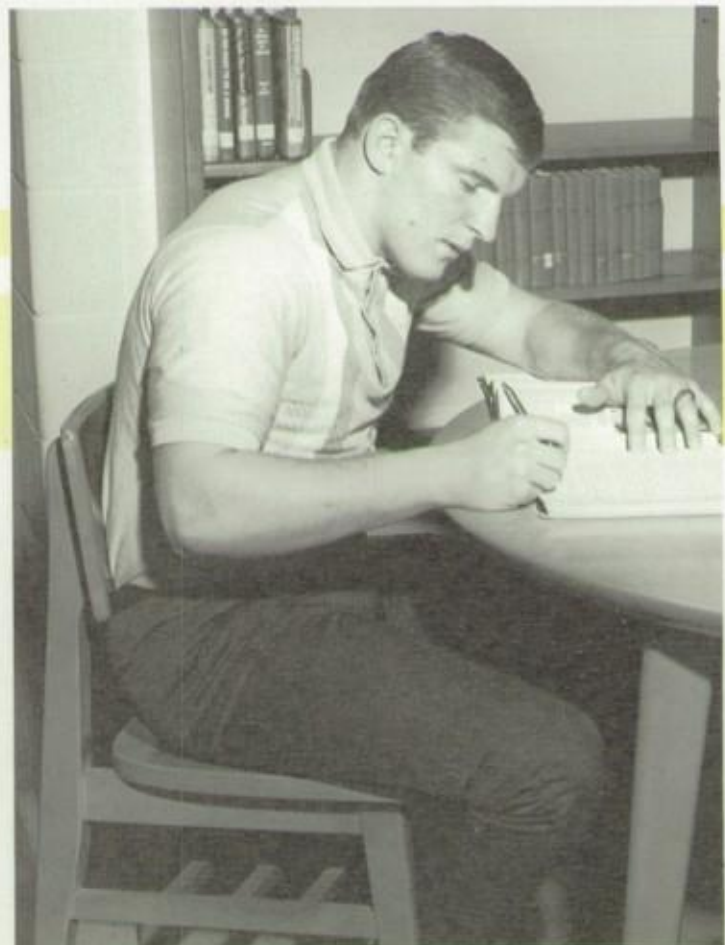

The Individual Has a Place Among the Masses

The relationship that exists between the individual and the masses is one of fair exchange, for each takes something, yet gives something in return, each contribution furthering the development and success of the other. From the masses the individual receives the security found in numbers. He is provided with many opportunities to broaden his range of experience and knowledge—developing a greater sense of responsibility which results in maturity. Against this background he finds himself a distinctive individual, able to function alone or with others. Conversely, from the individual the masses receive the substance with which to build a sturdy organization. They also acquire from the individual a small part of himself. It is this acquisition which serves as the adhesive to bind the crowd into a worthwhile group.

Student Activities Prove Beneficial to All

Mass meetings are, by far, the most popular student-directed and student-sponsored activities.

Larry Vorderburg sings a song from "Mary Poppins" in Rebeles.

Suzy Prue studies between scenes of "Life of the Party" Rehearsal.

Activities are an integral part of education, benefiting each student in two ways. There are certain individual accomplishments such as using leisure time constructively, developing appreciations, and furthering personal initiative and responsibility. Moreover, there are social outcomes which result from activities, for example, providing mental and physical recreation, practice in good human relationships, and increasing each student's social contacts. A school provides the many varying activities with the expectation that many of these objectives can be achieved.

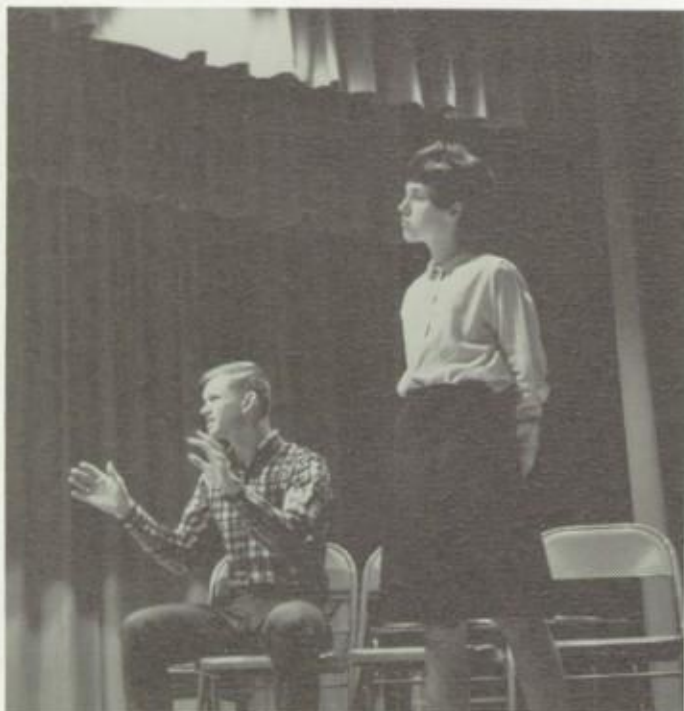

The Senior Ways and Means Committee devises money-making projects.

Nancy, Steve, and Mary devote their time to the REBELEES script.

Homecoming 1965

Bowsher's fourth homecoming was held Saturday, October 16, at the Bowsher-Waite game. Reigning over the festivities was Queen Judy Harper and her attendants Sandi Anderson, Shirley Geib, Jackie Perz, and Stacey Satterthwaite.

The morning game was climaxed by the halftime crowning of the queen by Bill Pasch, National Honor Society president. The enthusiasm of the crowd was not dimmed even when the Rebels were defeated, 13—6.

The weekend closed with a semi-formal dance, "Autumn Gold," held Saturday night in the school cafeteria. Sponsored by the Forum Service Society, the dance provided the final touch for a memorable homecoming.

Debby Thomas aims for the target.

One good push and it's over the net.

Just as reading, discussing, and writing aid in strengthening the individual's mind so do physical activities promote fitness of the body and recreational skills. Thus physical education activities have become an integral part of the overall curriculum at Bowsher.

Working together for team victories, students learn the fundamentals of sportsmanship and cooperation. Participating in individual activities, students acquire skills which will carry over into later years. Intramural programs in several sports for boys and girls, as well as gym classes and varsity sports, provide outlets for everyone's energy and opportunities for physical growth and development.

Promote Participation in Athletic Competition

Administrative Aides Provide Efficient Service

The many diversified services which the school service workers perform as a part of their everyday routine are essential to the efficient operation of Bowsher. Among the positions filled by these workers are aides in the attendance, activities, athletics, and nurse's offices. Their assistance is also used in the library and at the stationer's desk. Each school service worker donates his time so that these necessary tasks can be accomplished.

Rebelees '65 Highlights Spring Activities

Radiant smiles appear on the faces of the 1965 Rebelettes.

Shirley and Terry step high in Rebeles.

Again in 1965, Rebels demonstrated their talents in the successful production of REBELEES. The musical, "A Bum Deal," is the story of a Hollywood producer who made a wager that he could produce a hit show with a group of bums as the cast.

Although REBELEES is presented in the spring, work begins before pupils enter school in the fall. The steering committee devotes countless hours to writing, organizing, and producing the show. But the long hours of practice prove worthwhile when the final curtain goes down amidst a standing ovation from a sell-out crowd. Miss Elizabeth Papps, faculty adviser, capably led REBELEES.

"There will be no monkey business with me," says Pat.

The Fretsmen add their talent to the show.

The Class of 1966 Presents

THE STORY OF THE PLAY

Here is a lively, understanding study of modern youth and the modern family -- warm and funny, brisk and tender and full of hilarious situations and dialogue. The Hughes family moves to Butterfield and begins to choose friends. They make mistakes, of course, but in the end they are wiser because of them. They all become aware of the serious implications of what had seemed very funny; and what makes the play unusual and worthwhile is the wise readjustments of the characters to one another and to life.

"How'd I happen not to meet you before now?"

"I hate brains—especially my brains. They're the worst brains in the world."

"Listen Bud—this is my beat, see?"

"Come on, Snazzy. And shut up."

The Class of 1966 presented Bowsher's first senior class play, LIFE OF THE PARTY. Long rehearsals, memorization, and hard work led to the performance on Friday, November 19. This initial performance of a class play established yet another tradition for Bowsher. LIFE OF THE PARTY had an all-senior cast and crew. The production was directed by Bill Pasch and faculty adviser, Mr. Thomas Jennings.

"Take me now: I'm kind of shy about meeting people."

Faculty

The faculty and administration greatly influence the achievements and ideals of the student body. Their skills combine with new and modern teaching methods to widen each student's field of learning. This year's seniors are the first group that they have molded for four full years. After graduation teachers may become just pictures in a yearbook, but their drive and leadership will continue to influence and guide the lives of all students.

Home Economics

The home economics department teaches girls to be better, more intelligent homemakers. Led by Mrs. Ruth Arnold, this department is the only one emphasizing practical application of homemaking theories. To do this, the girls must understand family situations making relationships stronger. Many homemaking contests have been won by girls enrolled in these courses.

Miss Leitner records Spanish in her class.

Languages

During the past four years, foreign language classes have become larger, showing increased student interest in them. The French and Spanish departments are in the process of expanding to accommodate this interest. As the present trend among foreign language teachers is to emphasize the speaking and listening phases of learning, the use of movies and recordings is gaining popularity. In addition to these devices, the French, German, Latin, and Spanish classes provide extra-curricular information about the countries studied through the language clubs.

Miss Thull prepares materials for her classes.

Industrial Arts

Bowsher's Industrial Arts course introduces boys to the specific fields which they might choose for an occupation. The preview to one of these fields can be found in such classes as the wood shop, metal shop, electricity shop, or mechanical drawing. These classes, under the leadership of Mr. William Burns and Mr. Henry Fearnside, enable the student to make useful objects while learning skills which help the boys after the high school years.

The math department acquired new text books for the ninth grade, including texts for basic math, applied math, and algebra. New texts for the tenth grade will be purchased for next fall. Classes

From our classes here at Bowsheer the knowledge that we obtain and the poignant memories that will never be forgotten reflect the essence of the educational process. These years, perhaps more than any others, are selected for concentrated academic study, specialized and molded to each student's talents. Therefore, these years should be utilized, not wasted; they are the time for intellectual growth. Through this acquisition of intellectual maturity also comes emotional growth through the varied experiences that each student enjoys. The crux of this situation is learning, simply the attainment of knowledge to be used now as well as in adulthood. The classroom is the scene of the excitingly stimulating process of education.

Activities and Organizations

Life is the process of changing. Activities help to effect these changes. It is inevitable that, as students develop, they prefer new and more appropriate activities. Offered at Bowsher are the beneficial clubs and organizations which can accommodate each individual's interests and needs so that his development may be channeled into a positive direction. Not simply change but growth.

Student Council

The Student Council of Bowsher High School is organized to promote harmonious relations throughout the school, improve student-teacher relations, improve school spirit, and provide a forum for student expression. The Student Council is the most active group at Bowsher. They charter clubs and other organizations, contribute to the general welfare of the school, and work cooperatively with the area Student Council. This year the members sponsored homecoming week, safety week, clean-up week, sportsmanship campaign, teacher's day, and a pre-game pizza supper. The council is the main core of the student body at Bowsher.

Jerry and Dotty listen attentively at the Student Council's regular session.

National Honor Society

The Bowsher chapter of the National Honor Society is devoted to promoting scholarship, stimulating a desire to render school service, and manifesting worthy character and leadership. Juniors who are in the upper ten percent of the class and seniors who have maintained a 3.0 accumulative grade average and meet the other requirements for membership are eligible to join NHS. Activities of the organization this year included a college information night, a picnic, and the annual quiz bowl with Start. The National Honor Society provides honor and recognition for deserving scholars.

Interclub Council

The Interclub Council was formed this year by the Student Council for the purpose of coordinating activities among the student organizations. The council is composed of all the presidents of the various clubs that exist at Bowsher. The council benefits the school by acting as a congress for clubs where the presidents can meet to express their opinions. In a sense, the activities of all the clubs are the activities of the Interclub Council. The main services of the council to the school were supervision of the construction of club crests to be placed in the cafeteria and financing a portrait of Mr. E. L. Bowsher that is displayed in the school.

Activities Director, Mr. George Miley consults with club presidents on the new schedule for meetings.

Peries

The purpose of the Periclean Service Society is to honor girls of scholastic ability, to develop a spirit of friendship and loyalty, to furnish a program of service to the school, and to promote leadership. The club serves the school and community by donating a gift to the school, helping underprivileged children, and supporting athletic teams. Activities of the club this year included a car wash, bake sale, after-exam party, cherry pie sale, and participation with the Phils and Zets in the Tri-Lit functions.

The Peries strive to promote cooperation, loyalty, and character among its members.

Phils

One of the Phils' service projects this year was supervising the planting of flowers in the Bowsher courtyard.

The Phils this year balanced services with activities to make a successful year. The girls sponsored a monthly service project at the State Hospital, planted flowers in the courtyard, helped sponsor busses to the Fremont-Ross football game, and decorated the showcase for the Christmas holidays. Among this year's activities were the Tri-Lit swim party, a snow party, the annual Phil gym party, and a mass meeting. The Phils gave a scholarship award to a deserving senior member. The main purpose of the Phils is to serve the school and the community in any way possible. The Phils performed acts of charity in the community and supported their school by enthusiastic projects.

Zets

To promote a feeling of friendship and cooperation among the members of the various classes is the main purpose of the Zeta Phi Beta Service Society. The Zets devote themselves fully to the service of others and to the school. This year the Zets sponsored a pep rally, tag day, and sock hop. They also took a group of orphans to the Ice-capades and gave a basket of food to a needy family at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter. Members provided the school with two bulletin boards that are used for college and job information. Zets joined with the Peries and Phils in the Tri-Lit dance and splash party.

The Forum sponsored a homecoming queen candidate, made signs for football games, and sponsored the annual homecoming dance, held at Bowsher. They participated in the annual Forum—Q.D. basketball game, and sponsored a pep rally and a sock hop. Members of the Forum presented the school with a painting similar to the Bowsher decal which hangs in the gym. Thus they hoped to create better spirit among the student body.

"Really, Pete, you shouldn't talk about the other club that way!"

They sold programs and inflatable seating pads at football games and sponsored the annual intramural basketball tournaments. The Kingsmen-sponsored sock hop featured the Battle of the Bands, a first at Bowsher. The members readily serve the school to their highest ability.

Quill and Dagger

Striving for educational excellence and school service are the main goals to which the Quill and Dagger Society is dedicated. They also encourage interest in the community and work for the best interest of Bowsher. This year's group served the school by promoting school spirit, patronizing the Crest, and purchasing curtains for the teachers' cafeteria. The Q.D.'s sponsored a homecoming queen candidate, a sock hop, and held a Christmas party for their new members during Christmas vacation. They cooperated with the Inter-club Council in decorating for Christmas.

The club provides its members with guest speakers, movies, and further factual information concerning France. This active club held a mass meeting, sold tags for football and basketball games, and sponsored a sock hop. They also held a bake sale and their annual Christmas party. Der Gemütlichkeitsverein

The purpose of the German Club is to promote interest in the German language, literature, and customs, and to improve the use of German as a whole. It also provides an opportunity to German students to project their desire for additional learning of the German language. Included in this year's activities were a caroling party, a movie, and a roller skating party for its members. The club contributed such services to the school as decorating the display case and hanging Christmas decorations throughout the halls. The club inducted many new members into the club and ended a successful year with the annual banquet.

Causa Honoris Societas

The purpose of the Causa Honoris Societas, Bowsher's Latin club, is to promote a more thorough knowledge of Roman life, history, and literature. Its members strive to impart a better understanding of the practical and cultural values of the classics and to interest other students in the classical languages. This year the members sponsored a sock hop, pep rally, and a tag day. Several members attended the state JCL convention held in Columbus, where they nominated a member for state office. The Latin Club banquet, where new members serve as slaves to their purchasers, added the final touch to a successful year.

The induction of new members into the Latin Club is a solemn ceremony.

La Tertulia

The purpose of the Spanish Club is to inform its members of the customs of the Spanish and Spanish-American people and the beauty of their literature. This year the club entertained several speakers who reported about the Spanish-American countries and Spain. Members themselves give reports about the customs and life of the people whose language they study. La Tertulia benefits the school by contributing money to school projects, such as the oil painting of Mr. Bowsher, cooperating with the Interclub Council by decorating for Christmas, and placing a display about Spain in the main hall show case.

Christmas decorations provided by the Spanish students enhance the appearance of Miss Leitner's room.

This club promotes business education and helps students get jobs to help them through college. The A.I.D.'s have been quite busy this year with a bowling party, a bake sale, and a tag day. They have also entertained a ward of women at the Toledo State Hospital.

The club provides an opportunity for girls to institute a good standard of values for the home and family living. The entertainment for the club members this year included a roast, a Christmas party, a tobogganing party, and a banquet. The club invited numerous guest speakers and constructed gift packages that were sent to Viet Nam through the Red Cross. The club also instituted a program for the National F.H.A. Week.

Paramedical Club

The Paramedical Careers Club stimulates interests and opportunities in nursing and related medical fields and strives to interest students in learning about aptitudes and academic requirements essential for admission to these fields. Members made many visits to schools of nursing, hospitals, and meetings sponsored by the medical profession and area Council Paramedical Careers Club at the Academy of Medicine. Contacts with similar clubs from other schools are made during the year. Baskets of food were collected for needy families and the members also entertained the residents at the Home for the Aged.

Varsity Track Team

Many records have been made and broken during the 1965 Rebel track season. The earnest desire of the team, each individual's goals, and the coaching under the direction of Coach Ronald Schlievert made these accomplishments possible. The harriers put forth their natural abilities—running, jumping, throwing—which were aided by coordination developed through physical work and practice.

Above left Tim Dukes holds the freshman record for the mile and one-half mile. Fred La Plante is a distance runner. The freshman pole vault record of 12'ft. 1 in. is held by Bill Wittich. Another distance runner is Jack Webb. (Above right) Dave Krause is a member of the speed relay team. Tom Senerius is the holder of the 100 yd. and the 220 yd. dashes. The freshman record for the 440 is held by Ray Phillips. Joe Porter's record for the 880-mile relay. One of the freshman record holders for the mile relay is Tom Felhauer. Chris Baymiller holds the record for the high and low hurdles. Dan Palenske also is a hurdler. (Left) Shot-putters for the track team are Brian and Ray Kest. Terry Gerber holds the varsity discus record of 130 ft. 10 in. The freshman discus record is held by Denny Cole.

Mr. Raymond McNeill and Mr. Loy Rusie, principals of Bowsher and Libbey High Schools, respectively, discuss competition between the two schools.

Cheerleaders, Majorettes, Loyal Fans

The Pep Band demonstrates its talent at all home basketball games.

Much of the credit for Rebel spirit and sportsmanship belongs to the cheerleaders. They lead the student body in organized enthusiasm and follow the athletic teams in victory and defeat. Bowsher's majorettes and pep band are other groups which promote spirit while providing entertainment. But behind all these Rebel Rousers are the loyal fans. Their support and determination are the keys to Bowsher sportsmanship and spirit.

A pep rally helps to build school spirit for the athletic season.

A Rebel score brings enthusiastic response from the cheerleaders.

Bowsher's band and majorettes provide colorful halftime entertainment at Rebel football contests.

Cheering majorettes give vocal support to the team during the closing minutes of the game.

Promote Rebel Sportsmanship and Spirit

Mr. George Miley, Bowsher Activities Director, addressed the student body at a football pep rally.

Spirited students cheer Rebels on to a first down.

Let's go, Rebels, we want some action!

Student Creative Writing

Gone

Foolishly we spend this, our golden time
With careless minds shunning the hurtful end.
We brag that our iron hearts will not bend
To some low ebb, but only to sublime.
Time will be the mute witness of our crime
And with an inner courage we'll not fend
The very burning tears that joy must send
For we are but dots to a great design.
Yet for our ignorance and headstrong ways
We now have left a thought, a mark, a deed
And even as the numbers lose their days
Upon our memories we seem to feed.
But be strong for in this small, humble play
We filled a greater more important need.

—Arthur Walton

What we cannot see
We say cannot be—
Like eternity,
Yet it exists,
And like a small kiss
Cannot be captured
Only enraptured
For one must believe
To ever receive
The gift of either
Cowards get neither . . .

—Terry Huber

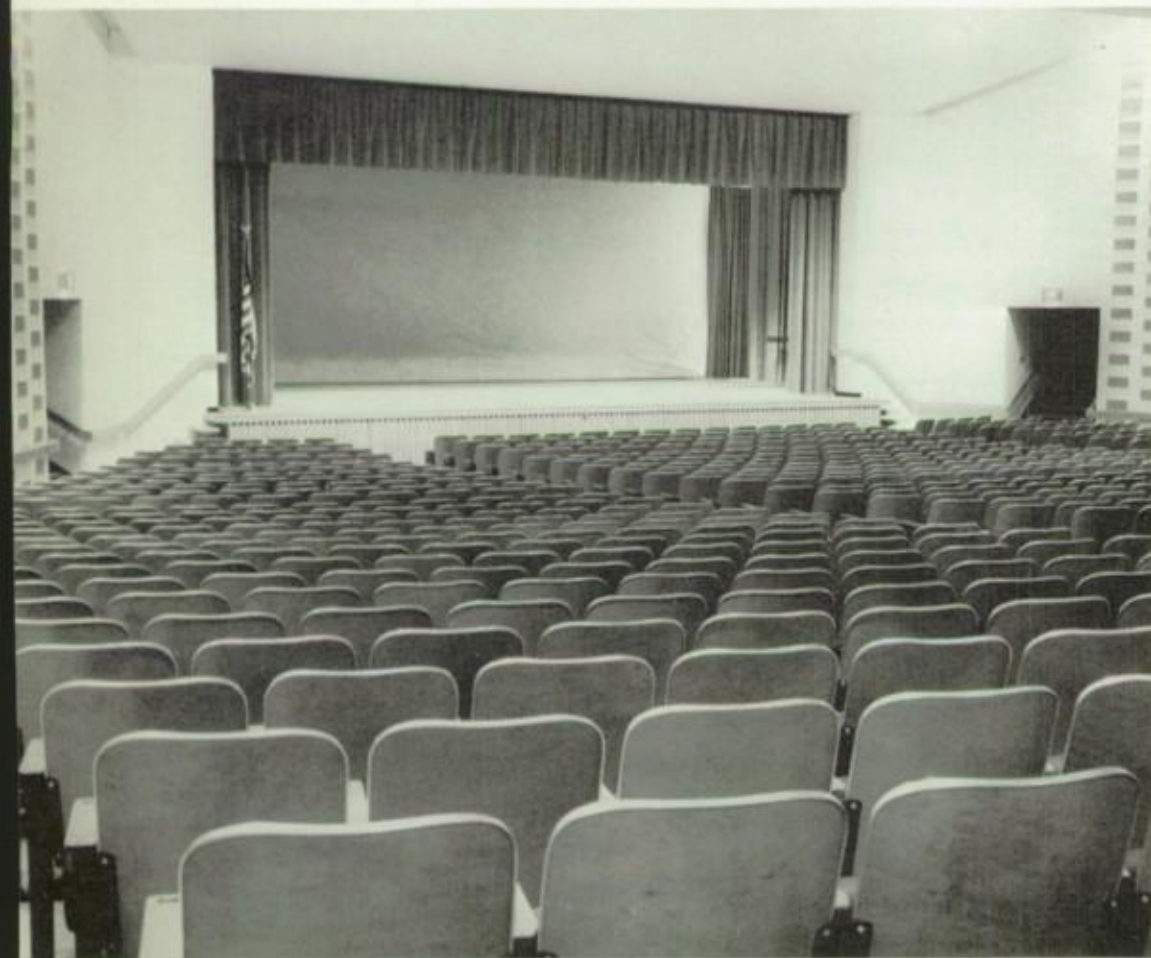

Torchbearers of Knowledge

To light the path of life,
To make the way more clear,
To step above the strife,
Our knowledge shines most near.

Though miles pass us by,
The last has been but one . . .
We hold our torches high.
Our path has just begun.

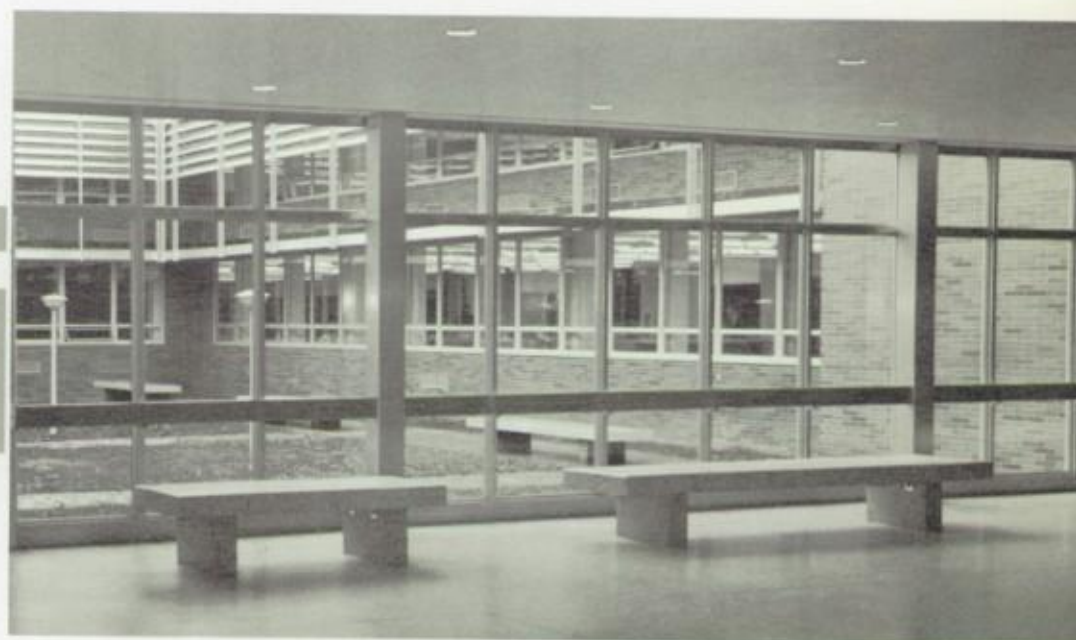

—Bruce Stoll

The Perfect Ending

So near yet so far
Is the golden sunset
From the rooftop
Across the great city
God and I will gaze upon it.
It symbolizes the end . . .
Of a day
A week
Or a life
The golden hue
Slips into violet-blue
Fades to ashen white
Then to darkness
Its beauty is momentary
But this is God's way
Of ending that day
That week
Or that life
And only God can change it
I only hope
He never does.
—Carol Sue Abel

To be here
Alone
With tears
Confused thoughts
And God
At last
To be here
Wishing
That goals
Responsibilities
And problems
Were past
Oh
To be found
By God's helper
The friend.
—Carol Sue Abel

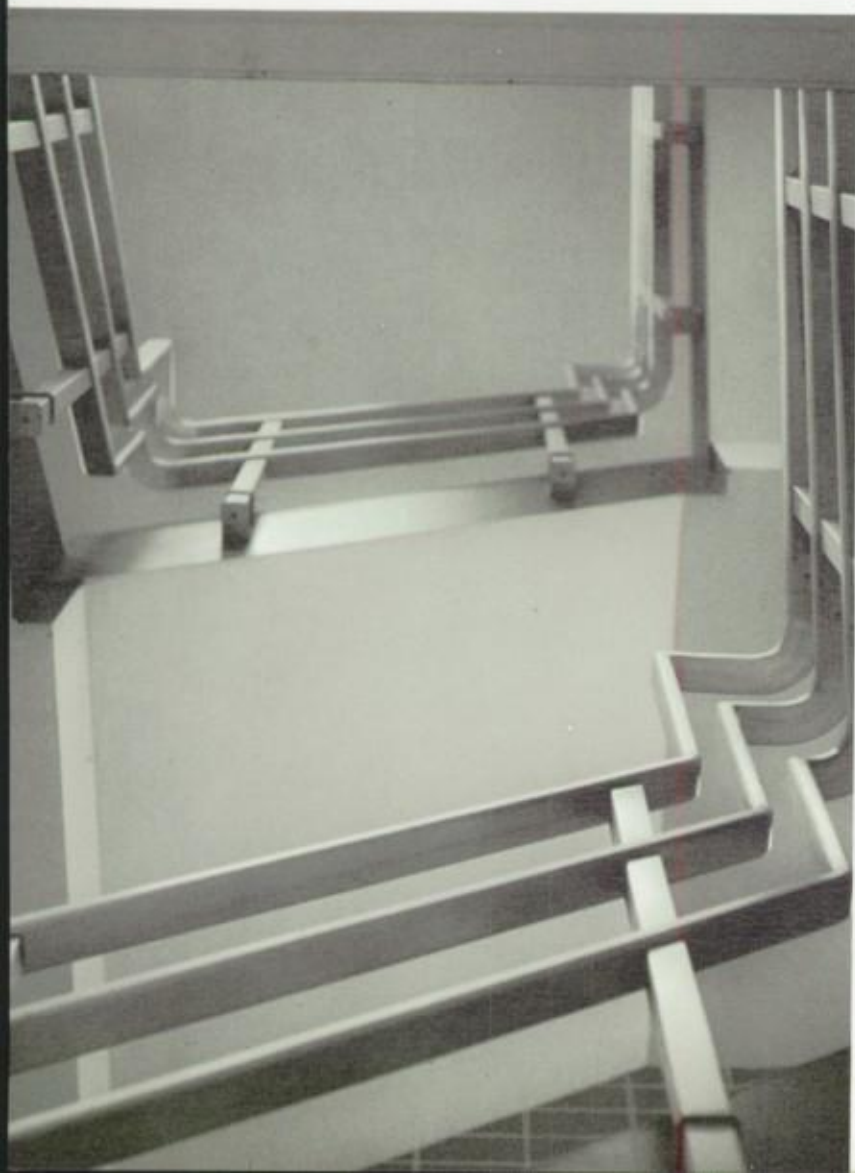

Confidence . . . a leaf upon a tree.
Secure in its firmness, happy in its greenness
Cradled in the arms of Spring.
Nurtured by the warmth of summer.

Threat of Danger . . . a leaf upon a tree.
Wary of its firmness, losing all its greenness
Shaken by the winds of autumn
With'ring through the bitter coldness.

Despair . . . a leaf upon the ground.
Robbed of all its firmness, devoid of all its greenness
Murdered by the hand of winter,
Buried 'neath a sheet of snow.

—Linda Liebnau

God,
 We're really had a great time
 this year in gym
 and Sunday school!
 You're really lucky in the future God bless
 May God bless
 Minnie "I"

EDITOR'S NOTE

A year is gone. Sometimes it was one of excitement and fulfillment, racing by in a flurry, accompanied by exuberant smiles. At others, it was filled with depression and despair, creeping monotonously on. However it was hailed or will be remembered, a momentous period or an inconsequential blur, it is gone—irretrievably, forever.

I'm not going to tell you how cutting you are and all that because I hope you assume it. It's been fun in geometry and hope we will be in algebra together. Hope to see you next year and this summer. Good luck always
Debbie Szalkowski

Dear Lara,
We've had a lot of fun in Geometry (DID SAY FUN IN GEOMETRY!!)
Well, anyway, good luck!
Jane Krammann

Love,
Sweetest, I hope you want to be with me
next year
Good luck always Debbie

Lara,
To a really darling girl who I'm glad I got to know better. I hope I get to see you this summer. Good luck in the future!
Sam Phillips

Lara,
It's been a lot of fun with you in English & Geometry. Hope I see you this summer. Keep on your toes!
Ellen Brodicker

Lara, Lara, Lara
Hi, Hi, Hi,
Bye, Bye, Bye

Guess who

clue: look on p. 75
Row 8

This is a letter, I wrote it, OK? Well, it's really even. I wrote it in 4th grade, it would have been a riot without our good ol' pal, (cousin) and its little me when exams come around in 4th grade. I'll probably see you in the deep, knowing I'll see you in the hall, summer! Your good friend, have you, who!! cheating friend, guess who!!
Gothy Baker

Lora,

What fun it has been in Geometry, hasn't it? Too bad we got moved. Now,
we can't chat anymore. What a pity.
Maybe we'll see each other next year. Be good & ^{study} ~~study~~ this summer.

Good luck always,
Becky Learned
"TT"

Lora,
So the girl in Geometry class with the beautiful long hair. It's been fun in class except for tests, exams etc. Well, have a great summer and be good.
Good luck in all you do.
See "TT" Warrick

Lora, really darling nut.

Big love ya,

P.S.
